

Delve into the complex world of lone working

Lone working is a term that applies to anybody who is working alone, with no supervision, for any length of time. This can range from roles such as a Security Operative or gas engineer visiting a domestic property to a warehouse operative retrieving goods from racking.

If an employee is working in a separate location from their colleagues, then this is defined as lone working. Full of engaging content and activities, this course is the ideal introduction to the subject.

Who are lone workers?

This interactive course takes you through topics such as what lone working is, the risks of lone working, risk assessments and controls and the responsibilities of employers and employees.

- Who are lone workers
Think about - who are lone workers?
- What is lone working?
What should be considered?
- Working from home
Understand how lone working applies to home workers
- Risks and hazards
Common risks and hazards of lone working
- Risk assessments
The key to working safely
- Lone worker safety
Understand how to work safely alone
- Employee and employer responsibilities
Who is responsible?
- Lone worker policy
How to better support your employees
- Lone working checklist
What to consider when remote working

Convenient and online

Get the knowledge you need without losing productivity.

Self paced

Learn at your own pace anytime using our online platform

35 - 50 minutes

Get up to speed in just a few hours (average completion time)

Accessible

Available on a wide range of devices, includes audio, video and transcripts

This course is compatible with most popular desktops, tablets, and mobile devices

Contact info@securitycpd.org

Website www.securitycpd.org

Certificates for Awareness Courses are included in course cost.

